

WorldRoots Acappella Song Raids & Sound Baths 2019

'Song Raids & Sound Baths' is a festival walkabout concept performed by the regions finest teenage world music choir 'WorldRoots Acappella', led by Musical Director Hannah Klewin of Bristol arts organisation Gathering Voices.

This highly evocative, engaging and high quality act has been booked for small and large family festival audiences including Glastonbury Festival (Theatre & Circus Walkabout) from 2008-17, WOMAD Charlton Park 2013, 14 & 16 and Somersault Festival 2015. WorldRoots has also performed by personal invitation for Sting and Trudie Styler at their home in Wiltshire on two occasions for a family birthday and local children's hospice day.

Here's what people have to say about WorldRoots 'Song Raids & Sound Baths':

"The WorldRoots walkabout act was stunning – like nothing I have ever experienced – 360 degrees of beautiful, haunting and uplifting pitch-perfect music by amazingly talented youngsters. WorldRoots are one of the most professional and pleasurable acts to work with that I have ever come across – I won't hesitate to book them again!!!"

Lark Porter, Events Coordinator, Co-stage manager Sensation Seekers, Glastonbury Festival

"So good to See & Hear & Feel Gathering Voices. Thank you for your generous commitment to community.

Love Trudie & Sting"

“Amazing things happen to you like I was just walking around and this woman comes up to me and says ‘would you like a song’ and I said ‘I’d love a song’ thinking that she was just going to sing to me. She immediately calls over about 15 other people, they surround me in a circle and sing me the most beautiful song – just to me you have ever heard! So I had tears rolling down my cheeks – and that to me summed up the whole Glastonbury thing!”
